Dear Mrs. Edwards,

I am enclosing a computer copy of my husband's grandfather's journal on the Frantz family. As near as I could I tried to keep to his original spelling, but it is extremely difficult to deliberately misspell words. I know that what we have is incomplete, and I would appreciate any updates that you might have. We had started to get it up to date at the Frantz family reunions, but we haven't had a reunion for a number of years.

I understand that you are planning to write a book on the Frantz family. Please let me know the cost of the book when you finish it. I would be more than willing to pay for it.

Sincerely,

Nancy S Frantz

Dear Nancy and Aaron,

First thing, my apology for not writing sooner. I can't find any indication that I mailed a "thank you" for the information that you mailed. Usually, I send a thank you by return mail and document the correspondence in a log.

I really value the information you sent. Although I already had a lot of the data, I was able to add dates, locations and spouses. Your information -- and your courtesy and consideration -- IS sincerely appreciated! Please keep me in mind for additional Frantz info. I really do want "additions & corrections."

I won't be publishing a Frantz book for several years (I'll put your name on the list). There is so much information to collect -- and many errors that are already in print that need to be properly researched and documented. I don't want to perpetuate the errors in my book!

The book will be enormous because I already have over 9000 Frantz and collateral lines. Of course, I'll add names as the months roll by -- and there will be lots more documentation. "The book" was 715 pages when I printed just before my trip to Ohio. (I took the book for display at Annual Meeting.)

I really had a great vacation in Ohio. Everyone was so gracious.

Lela & Marvin were marvelous host and hostess. I met so many nice people -- and saw so many Frantz family farms and familiar names on tombstones in the many cemeteries.

In closing, thanks again for sharing the "Adam Frantz Journal" with your "California Cousin." As I noted in the printout (page 13), I suspect that you, Nancy, collected a lot of additional information which you prepared so beautifully on the wordprocessor. It was so-o-o easy to follow the families and I didn't have to use a magnifying glass to try and decide handwritten words. God bless you, and yours.

Thinking of you

"Cathedral Rock – Yosemite"
by Wendell Brown
Oil, 30" x 45"

Native California artist Wendell Brown's belief that color is the most critical component in a painting is powerfully apparent when viewing his richly hued seascapes and landscapes. His masterful use of color combined with a strict attention to detail and composition give his paintings great vitality and a sense of constant movement within the scene. Brown spent countless hours as a young man in museums and art galleries studying different styles, techniques and artists, gaining valuable insight into the artistic process. His life in California now affords him a continuous source of inspiration for his critically acclaimed paintings, which may depict seafoam covered shores stretching into blazing and seemingly endless sunsets, or peaceful landscapes and majestic mountain scenes.
