Pennsylvania Mennonite Heritage issues periodically feature a member of the Lancaster Mennonite Historical Society who has traced his or her ancestry at least six generations.

James M. Denlinger and Nancy Lou Mundhenk

James Marlan Denlinger was employed for thirty-five years by Reynolds and Reynolds Company, a national business forms printer, in advertising and sales. He has a long-term interest in his ancestors, many of whom were Old German Baptist Brethren. After retiring in 1983 and purchasing a computer, a genealogical passion has overtaken him. He and Ralph Denlinger of Oxford, Pennsylvania, plan to publish a comprehensive work on the Denlingers. He and his wife attend the Prince of Peace Church of the Brethren in Kettering, Ohio, where he is a charter member. He has filled many offices including Church board, commissions, building committee, youth advisor, and choir member. He and his wife live on part of his father's farm at 4823 Glenmina Drive, Kettering, OH 45440 and may be reached at <Jmding@AOL.com>.
